

5. Paging /Personal Security Trainingen

The Product training for Personal Security, Paging, DECT6000 and DECT IP/E is built up around a number of training modules. Each module deals with either commercial focused information or more technical oriented information. The content of each module is described in detail in the following pages.

The commercial focused training course is also an introduction to the more technical courses. It is advised to follow this first before attending the technical course (see entry level in the module description). The training schedule is set up in such a way that one can follow the modules concerned one after another.

However, one can step in at any moment providing that the participant has the right knowledge level.

Besides the scheduled training, there are also possibilities to organize local training per module or to adapt the modules to special requirements.
